

CALL FOR ARTISTS
OFFTHEWALLSITE x BAIT
"California Native"
What It Means To Be A Cali Native

BAIT and OFFTHEWALLSITE are proud to present "California Native", asking the question "What is your vision of the California lifestyle?" Is it the beach? Is it skateboarding? Is it custom cars and motorcycles? Is it enjoying the outdoors? Is it your favorite food spots? Is it your own town? We're challenging you to capture what it means to be a "Cali Native", featuring a pair of Vans sneakers, of course.

Submissions/Type of Art Work:

- All participating artists will be asked to submit artwork in correspondence to the theme: "California culture, featuring Vans sneakers" with emphasis on featuring the shoes.
- paintings, drawings, prints, photography, anything that can be framed and hung on the wall.
- We will be reviewing all concepts and final pieces prior to full acceptance into the art exhibit, to ensure they align with our vision for this show. (Sorry for the quality control!)

Please refrain from using the words "Vans" or any sub-brand of Vans, as we don't want this to look like an ad campaign.

Deadlines:

- 8/15 - Send initial acceptance (so we can get a head count) to: djguamstyles@offthewallsite.net, and ryanskeet@gmail.com. Space is limited!
- 8/22 - Submit your concepts or any rough sketches so we can decide if we can accept your art into our show. Multiple submissions will be fine.
- 10/1 - Submit art during this week, but please don't wait until the last minute.

Length of exhibition:

- Exhibition will run for 2 weeks in BAIT's upstairs in-store art gallery.

Installation and removal of work:

- All paintings, drawings, and photographs, etc must be ready for hanging by Friday 10/5/13 at store closing. No exceptions. Removal will be after the 2 weeks on 10/24/13.

Commission Split (if choosing to sell your artwork)

All sales will be handled by BAIT.

Artists will receive 50% of sales
